

Political Party Elects Stan Heckman

Council Kills Policy Motion

by Dick Gillespie

• PRESIDENT ED RUTSCH last Wednesday ruled out of order a motion that the Student Council state its policy concerning the Youth March for Integration.

Two weeks ago Mr. Rutsch, in his report, read a letter from the organization for the march. The letter asked for Council endorsement of the march and that a petition be circulated for student signatures.

Last Wednesday, Tom McGrath, Council publicity director, moved that the Council dictate a policy concerning the march. Amidst the discussion that followed, advocate Tim Mead advised president Rutsch that the motion was out of order.

An attempt by Mr. McGrath to withdraw his motion was blocked when Stan Heckman, junior college representative, refused to withdraw his second. President Rutsch then ruled the motion out of order. Upon a challenge by Mr. Heckman, the Council, 9 votes to 5, upheld the decision.

Strong Opinions

Mr. Mead, in advising the decision, told the group that he hesitated making the ruling because he had very strong opinions concerning integration.

As individuals, he said, Council members have a responsibility to voice their opinions but acting as the Council they had neither a responsibility nor a right to dictate a policy.

"It is not our job," he said, "to give opinions on national issues."

The Articles of Student Government say this of Student Council authority: "Ultimate authority lies with the Board of Trustees . . . but the grant of powers and functions by this body to Student Government makes possible the conduct of a vast range of activities for which the Student Council as a functional and legislative body has direct responsibility."

Council Powers

The first article, defining Council powers, states: "There is hereby vested in the Student Council

... A PARTY IS BORN! Stan Heckman is lifted into the air on the shoulders of his fellow party members Aaron Knott and Dave Aaronson after Mr. Heckman was elected the President of the new political party. The party was given the name Colonial Campus party. Mr. Heckman was one of the initiators of the party. Holding the placard with the party's name inscribed is Jeff Place, another member of the group.

Campus Party Selects Name

• THE COLONIAL CAMPUS political party received its name Friday and elected an executive committee.

The name "Colonial Campus" was selected from other titles including the "All-Colonial" and "All-University." The executive committee elected was: Stan Heckman, President; Bill Stuart, Vice-President; Rhoda Ezrin, Secretary; Charley King, Treasurer, and All Capp, member-at-large.

Charley King, the new treasurer, felt that the party had made a successful attempt to get interested independents active in the group. The elections substantiated that point of view, he continued.

The executive committee will begin work on their first big problem immediately. That will be getting a faculty sponsor definitely interested in their program and one who is willing to help them push it, Mr. King related.

In a brief interview, after the Friday meeting, the executive committee told a HATCHET reporter they would try to work out a program to convince the student body that the Student Council can affect them directly.

Criticism of Council

They felt that they should work with the idea that the student government elections are more than just something nice going on in the Spring. Now, they related, the power basically owned by the Student Council is not well used. "We want," they stressed, "to build responsible Council positions—ones which will affect the student body and the Administration in a constructive way."

The ultimate aim in this program is to create an effective bridge between student body opinion and Administration standings, they continued.

Constitution Changes

At another meeting, earlier in the week, the Colonial Campus party made revisions in their rough draft constitution and adopted it. Revisions were made

Delegate Proposes IFC Intramural Fund

• BILL BELFORD, SIGMA NU delegate to the Interfraternity Council, moved last week that the Council survey possibilities for a mutual fund covering intramural sports injuries.

The Council adopted his motion and appointed Mr. Belford to head a committee of four, including himself, Burt Kaplan, Alpha Epsilon Pi; Ben Prager, Tau Epsilon Phi and Alex Heslin, Kappa Alpha.

This new move by the Council is an attempt to correct the present non-coverage status. The problem developed last fall when a wave of injuries was sustained by several fraternities in the touch football program.

Committee

In proposing his motion, Mr. Belford suggested that an administrative committee of three IFC delegates be named to handle the fund if it is approved.

Illustrating how such a fund might be put into effect, he told the Council that there were 397 participating in football last year. If each man had put two dollars into a mutual fund, he continued, there would have been approximately $800 on hand to pay out in coverage.

Such a program might be instigated next year, he related. But, there are a few problems which would have to be cleared up, he continued.

He mentioned the probable acceptance and incorporation of independent organizations into the plan and noted that they would probably have to have a voice on the administrative committee.

Coverage

The problem of maximum and minimum allotments per claimant in case of injury would have to be resolved too, he noted. He said that a maximum would probably not reach more than 80 percent per injury. Taking that into consideration, he saw the program as

Religious Aid Planned For Young People

• THE RELIGIOUS COUNCIL, last Thursday, gave preliminary acceptance of plans to give religious aid in southwest Washington.

The council will sponsor a program in response to a church survey made in the southwest among young people. Because there has been a great movement of families in that area due to redevelopment, the survey showed, churches have lost many contacts with the people.

In the low economic area in which the survey was conducted, it was found that 5000 families are in the process of moving in and out of the area. Because of this, hundreds of school children have been displaced and have lost all of their religious ties.

Anyone interested in the project may participate by attending the various religious group meetings or by attending the next religious council meeting, March 12, at 5:15 p.m., in building O.

WGW Again Seeks Administrative O. K.

• ACTING PRESIDENT COLCLOUGH and radio station head Stuart Gelber met last Wednesday to discuss the future of WGW.

Full results of the meeting were not disclosed, but in an interview with the HATCHET, Mr. Gelber expressed optimism for the station's future.

Hope was exhibited by Mr. Gelber that acting President Colclough will give WGW his immediate attention so that seniors working on the project will see it go into operation. It would take four weeks after administration approval for the station to begin broadcasting.

Student Leadership

Mr. Gelber quoted the Acting President as saying, "If there were to be a radio station on campus, the administration would want the students to operate and manage it with a minimum of faculty and administrative supervision. The organization and constitution of the station would have to insure that the activity would be able to perpetuate itself under competent student leadership."

Mr. Gelber stated that Acting President Colclough gave no indications as to what his feelings were, but he wanted to know the background of the station and all the facts pertaining to the situation. A formal report on the station was submitted to him for his consideration.

Rumors have been circulated that a great deal of rewiring would be required in order to accommodate the transmitter, Mr. Gelber related. In repudiating the rumor, Mr. Gelber said it has been established that the only work necessary could be done by an electrician in fifteen minutes or less at little or no cost.

Fox Appears Before AKPsi

• LAWRENCE A. FOX, senior economist with the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, U. S. Department of Commerce, spoke to the Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity Thursday.

Alpha Kappa Psi presented the first in a series of programs concerning business and commerce entitled "International Trade Expansion and Problems of Domestic Import Competition," Thursday evening.

Mr. Fox told his audience a manufacturing company here which feels the effects, financially, of foreign imports of the same items, can petition for increased duties or reduction of imports of those items.

One such case involved the increasing foreign imports of cloth pin springs, a rather small item manufactured by only a few companies in the U. S. Because the manufacturing of springs is the only source of income of these companies, the competition with the imports was undesirable. Therefore, the companies petitioned for reduced imports of the springs and/or higher duties, usually the latter.

When questioned about the many foreign cars which are exported to the U. S. from various foreign countries, Mr. Fox related that at present, the auto industry here is not greatly concerned and is preparing to meet the competition by bringing out smaller cars in the near future.

Intramural Insurance

Of course, he related, as the years go by and if injuries don't occur as they did this year, the fund would increase from year to year, allowing greater coverage.

Showing how the program might be administered, he said it must be apart from the IFC. He mentioned what he considered the three major problems of administration: 1) The program must be compulsory for all who accept it. It that isn't done, he felt, the fund would lack the money it needs. 2) All members must be given a physical examination, passing them on fitness for the intramural program.

He mentioned that only one of the injuries received this fall had been legitimate. The others were sustained by men who had been exempt from physical education because of previous injuries. 3) In order for the committee to pay a claimant, a medical authority would have to be consulted to determine whether or not an injury was received as a result of participation in intramurals.

Future Hope

Professor Vincent DeAngelis, director of intramurals, said later in the week that he did not think the fund would take the place of insurance just now. But, he noted, if the injury rate remains low, as it has in the past, and if the fund is well administered, he could see no reason why it could not build up eventually and take care of the problem.

He also mentioned that only one of the injuries received this fall had been by a person not waived for physical education classes.

Dr. Don C. Faith, director of men's activities, related his awareness of the IFC proposal and expressed the hope that an adequate solution to the injury question could be reached before too long.

Current Problems

H. J. Cantini, assistant to the treasurer, handles insurance programs for the University. He said that the program was one the group would be gambling on for the first year or two.

The first and biggest pitfall, he could see, was in the kind of provision set up for handling any claims for aid of the fund runs dry paying for other claims.

Secondly, he noted, it would be difficult to say how such a program would work out since it has never been tried here before.

There might be some pitfalls, he concluded, but it was something the Council could try out and hope for the best.

If it works without too many injuries, he also felt that a constant contributing over the years might prove satisfactory. That was his advice, acting solely in an advisory capacity for the University.

Late in the fall semester the Council voted to abstain from participating in intramural football until adequate coverage was made for player injuries.

in the areas of quorum attendance, the type of nominating process used for selecting party-backed Student Council candidates, and provisions for constitutional amendments.

The basis of a quorum was changed from three-fifths of the party membership present, to a majority present.

The second revision states that a candidate for the party-backed slate must be nominated from the floor of a regular meeting, rather than from an open meeting.

The final change made an amendment to the constitution binding by a three-fourths vote of members, rather than from total party membership.

The retiring temporary chairman, Marty Zippert, said that he was pleased with the fine slate of officers elected. He was glad that he had been able to serve the party as he had, he continued. He commented also on his availability for any other aid or advice.

Who Cares?

• DOES THE ENTIRE student body have petitionitis?

It would seem that this is the case judging from the number of petitions that have been turned in for the co-chairmanships of the Student Handbook and Homecoming Weekend. The Student Handbook petitions were due on Friday, February 27. By the end of that day the Student Activities office had received a total of three petitions. Because of this low number it has been necessary to extend the petitioning date until next Friday.

The petitions received for Homecoming co-chairmanships also numbered three.

Where is student interest? Are there only three people in this entire University that care about the management of Homcoming weekend? Or is the entire student body, minus three, just interested in taking part in the weekend so that they can complain about the way in which it is run? The circumstances would seem to prove this as truth. This seems to be a fault of our student body. We like to complain about how things are run but we don't want to take the time to see that they are run in a way more to our liking.

One more fact remains to be pointed out. When only three people petition for a job, the Student Council is forced to pick the two best qualified. How much choice is there among three people?

A Look At The Lighter Side Of College Life

by Bob Lipman

• THE BATTLE OF THE sexes is raging on campuses all over the country, so let us take a peek at what is happening at our sister and brother Universities.

Kansas University

The Jayhawkers are beginning to call the male on campus a LMOC. This all stems from an article in the DAILY KANSAN which reported some facts published in booklet form by Marthann H. Voss. Mr. Voss points out that the average male spends only 15% of his income and the woman tells him how to spend that. He owns only 30% of America's wealth while the "weaker" sex owns 70%.

He has the edge on women in owning 60% of all real estate, but the LMOC collects only 20% of the life insurance and has to pay for the other 80%.

Is the little man happy? This may be one of the unanswerables unless he chooses to reveal his emotions. There again, woman takes over. Women were principally responsible for his education, and usually one woman controls his serenity. Editor's note—This is getting very depressing!

Elizabethtown College

Reverend T. Wayne Reiman, head of the Religion Department at Manchester College, stated that, "The average college student today is rather smug and self-satisfied. He goes to college primarily because a degree usually means a better job, more money and more security."

He went on to say that most college graduates don't change their sense of values as a result of their experiences as undergraduates. He also added that the bulk of American college students have little interest in world affairs because of the preoccupation with the quest for individual security.

"Only about 25% of our college graduates change their sense of values as a result of their campus environment. The rest bring their moral and ethical values with them to college and depart with them unaltered," he said.

His only partial solution to the problem was that more emphasis on the all-round development of the individual must be the goal of our colleges. He said the only result of this scramble for security will be a dog-eat-dog society devoid of moral values.

University of Washington

Want to raise that sagging grade point average? The Huskies say get married! A study by Dr. Glen T. Nygreen of the University reveals that married students appear upon the higher scholarship lists 4.2% more than expected from their percentage in the student body.

Various reasons were given for this improvement. You now have four parents to support you which means a more equitable distribution of the tuition load. Of course, you have to consider the children. Some parents say that they are conducive to that morgue-like silence required for textbook perusals. Some parents said that kids decrease their study time (8.9%), while others said the children had no effect (13.5%).

But 33 married men said that they had to study in the roar of their children every night, so who are you going to believe? This may cause some of the weaker students to wonder which is better, the black depths of probation or the all-enduring golden hand-cuff.

Marine Band Wins Praise

By Hal Bergem

• AFTER THE FIRST few notes of "The Star-Spangled Banner," the audience at the U. S. Marine Band concert in Linsner auditorium last Friday knew it was in for a genuine treat.

As the Marine Band proceeded from the national anthem through its programmed concert to the concluding "Marine's Hymn," there was heightened the opinion that this was perhaps the greatest event sponsored on the Linsner stage by the University. Lt. Col. Albert Schoepper was an able conductor—rigid in his position, never actually becoming a part of the music he was leading—but always keeping his musicians in strict command.

The evening opened with Weber and Hindemith's march from "Symphonic Metamorphoses." This number set a military tone to the concert and placed the audience in a like mood. During the performance of the march, one could depict images of military scenes as one sees them on the television program, "Victory at Sea," accompanied by Richard Rodgers' masterpiece of the same title.

Hunsberger's arrangement of a "Jerome Kern Fantasy" was handled ably, but not extraordinarily. "Yesterdays" was depicted in a Latin version, and "Who" was presented in the finest rendition I have ever heard. However, "I've Told Every Little Star," and "All the Things You Are," which featured an ineffective mute-trumpet accompaniment, were disappointing. But this was the only weak spot in the evening's program.

Clifton Williams' "Fanfare and Allegro," which won a top award for a musical composition a few years back, opened the second half of the program. Featured instrumentalist for the evening was a young and accomplished trombonist, James Erdman. Mr. Erdman played the solo from Rimsky-Korsakov's "Concerto for Trombone and Band." Mr. Erdman seemed all the more profound when the moderator informed the audience that Erdman was the youngest member of the musical group. Featured vocalist for the concert was the band's able moderator, William Jones. Mr. Jones, a baritone, offered "La Calumnia E Un Venticella from Rossini's "The Barber of Seville." Jones was excellent, as was shown by the audience's demand for two encores — "I've Got Plenty O' Nuthin'" and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

The outstanding features of the evening included Mendelssohn's "Overture for Band" — mature music composed when Mendelssohn was a mere 15. Highly memorable also were "My Bonny Boy" and "Folk Song from Somerset" from "Folk Song Suite for Military Band" by R. V. Williams. H. Owen Reed's "Mass" from "La Fiesta Mexicana," and the beautiful "Rhapsody In Blue," by the eminent George Gershwin, America's link between Tin Pan Alley and the concert stage. "Rhapsody In Blue," the evening's finale, was the Ferde Grofe arrangement for concert bands. The march encores — "Coloney Bogey," "Stars and Stripes Forever," and "Semper Fidelis March"—were all excellently rendered.

If one were to pick a high point or the climax of the performance, one could select the exotic "Sym-

ON CAMPUS

by Bob Lipman

• SPRING AT G. W. usually brings on torrid political campaigns. The fraternities, Student Council elections and sorority elections are generally in full swing during the Spring semester. More issues seem to pop up at this time and an issue that has been steadily cropping up is the Who's Who controversy that has been plaguing this campus for many a year.

Who's Who is an honorary that for some reason always runs into a barrelful of trouble every time the selections are made known to the public. Just why this selection has to turn into a controversy is a mystery to me, but even the big-wigs at the University take a hand in this one and now the entire affair will probably come to a head in the Student Life Committee meeting this week.

LIPMAN

As you know the Student Life Committee selects the Who's Who members each year, but what most people do not know is that the faculty members of Student Life have the ultimate say on who gets the honor and who loses out. The student members of the Committee merely give their recommendations to the faculty members on the committee and these recommendations may be added to or cut at will.

This is how the machinery works when Who's Who is selected, but the controversy stems from the people who do not make this honorary. It seems some people on Student Life think that a number of worthy people are missing from the Who's Who list and it is wrong to have any bitterness connected with the honorary. I have seen four groups of Who's Who chosen at this University and every time this argument is brought out, but who is really bitphonic Portrait of Tulsa (Oklahoma)" by Gillis. One could easily understand the story being told in music—that of the peaceful, uncultivated land greeting the first covered wagon. The audience senses a fierce battle between red man and white with the latter victorious. The audience heard the building of a mid-western metropolis and shared in the surprise and festivities over the discovery of oil.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Chartreuse Tuesday!

That is the title of Fats Domino's latest recording—a sequel to "Blue Monday." And this is a chartreuse Tuesday, just a wee bit brighter than blue yesterday. Why? Although sorority sisters promise brighter days to come, pledges still wonder about dates for the Pan-Hell Prom. Have a tip for you all—F.J.S. is still available.

The Woodner's "Top of the Park" found nine new members of Alpha Epsilon Phi on top of the world. The AEPHs were celebrating the initiation of the new bearers of the pin to alum Larry Lane's band, and continued on later at Gust's where Mel Feldman was up to par, proving his fame for the origination of the new AEPH game—"Can You Top Mel Feldman?"—New brethren and their dates were Howie Lehrer and Ellen Fink, Joe Iseman and Roberta Raine, Barry Gould and Bev Sebolt, Al Ezrin and Elaine Tannenbaum, Steve Newman and AEPH Toby Gutwerk, Dave Moss and Gertrude Sebolt, Mike Duberstein and AEPH Leah Beyda, Paul Frank and Judy Tryer and Marty Ehrlich and Toby Sebolt.

Old Koshers on hand included Steve Sandler and old friend Carol Eisen, Earl Landau and Paula Brown, Rick Silas and Audrey Mugmon, Sid Hersh and Diane Finklestein, Milt "Southern Comfort" Michaelis and Sandy Metro (did he really get pinned?), Roy Du Brow and AEPH Jan Ginberg, Steve Kaplan (an outsider from Bahston) and Shelia Schlosenberg, Stan Heckman and Evie Celler, Merritt Murry and Louise Caplan, Aaron Knott and AEPH Rhoda Ezrin, Saul Leibowitz and AEPH Johanna Fox, Stu Engleberg and Shelia Speigal, Bob Lipman and Adrienne Epstein, Marv Singman and Babs Eisman, Larry Lobl and Ruth Harris, Marty Herman and Sidney Epstein, Harvey Wertlieb and Linda Silverberg, Mel Feldman and Lynne Robinson, Bob Greenstein and AEPH Penny Kramer, Stu Kaplan and Sandy Bergman, Hal Toman and Jessica Sebolt, Burt Kaplan and AEPH Nancy Ackerman, Marty Reichgut and Sherry Rabinowitz, Roger Zuker and AEPH Lorraine Meyerovitch, Albie Tarasak and Ellen Glassman, Dick Merelman and Carol Miller and Bernie Karmel and Tuffy Sebolt.

Post Mortem to the AEPH Initiation Dance!! Alpha Epsilon Phi and Alpha Epsilon Phi proudly announce the pinning of two of your Auntie Hester's favorite people—Burt Kaplan and Nancy Ackerman.

FLASH! The social chairman of Kappa Sigma fraternity was found hanging from their flag pole early this morning. He neglected to announce the election of DZ Norma Engberg as Sweetheart of Kappa Sigma.

A group of hardy SAEs partook in some ice skating over the weekend. Maybe they knew the world championships were in progress. Among the up and coming Dick Buttons and Tinley Albright were the ever popular Jack Claggett and Mederose Deanne Fowler, Theta from San Jose State (some monicker), Tom Russell and DG Margo Gross, Bob Price and Reds (now just who is "Reds" anyway?), Ted Alexander and Ann Atkinson, Billy Frank and Cissy Anderson, Li'l Ronnie Claxton and even Li'l Pat Mushmouth, and—oh, joy—a surprise visit from Mother. Now Mother, why don't you go out and get a date, sometime? Later on the kiddies descended on the SAE house to warm up and dance, and found newly pinned Henry Frain and DG Betty Robinson, girl AFROTC Queen, dancing the night away.

P.S.—How in the boiler?

Next—a letter I received this week, printed verbatim:

Dear Foggy, The Freshman Class of the Law School had its third successful dinner and drinking party at Marocco's last Friday night. Prominent among the students were Henry Green, Ken Sher, Austin Comstock, Larry Iannotti, Henning Wegner, Sheldon Stern, Wiley Whisonant, Ernest Auerbach and dozens more. Dean Mayo, Dean Benson, Professors Fryer, Walgurn, Dixon, Freedman and Potts, were there as guests as was Professor Robert Harris who led the singing of the law school favorites to the fine accordion playing of Carl Hubbel. (If you can jam this in, thank you.) Ernest A. There.

Kappa Delta Sorority announces the pinning of Gail Evertsen to U. of Maryland Delta Sigma Phi, Al Smith. Hmm, sounds like Gus is asserting her influence.

The Sigma Nus regressed almost two score years and it seemed as though it was the prohibition days because there was quite a crowd at the "Speak-Easy." The babes were garbed in the latest sack-like flappers, with strings of pearls dangling from their slender napes and their escorts wore multicolored blazers (unlike those worn by a group near Dupont Circle) and flatcap straw hats. Those enjoying the gala affair were Carl Prout and Pi Phi Mary Mount, John Harrison and Sigma Nu Girl, Sharon Ronningen, Johnny Johnson and Pat Ohl and George Burnett and Sandy Robertson. Others drank the mixture of clear lightning and juice from the bathtub as though they were hypochondriacs when they heard that the Vitamin C in the juice is an antiscorbutic. Seen trying to prevent the scurvy were Dick Wills and Judy Holzberg, Ernie "the Alpine" Saultz and Pat Gallagher, Jack "Capone" Lynn and Bunny "Marlowe" Johannessen and Ralph Ralph "Valentine" Beach and Madame Vicki Arelio. Steve Kemp and Bev Browder thought it was a BYOB party so they went out and bought bagels, cream cheese and giffle fish. I would like to add that there were no warm bodies contaminating the tubful of punch as had been in the past few years. Burp!!

We would still like to find out the name of the somewhat inebriated avid ROTC roofer at the ROTC-Med School, intramural basketball game Saturday.

The Deltas hosted the Pi Phi Friday night in a lively exchange featuring the three Delt "Queen" candidates for 1958-1959. Interviewed by Bill Howlin, the three vivacious charmers—Miss Budweiser Belch (Sandy Morrison), Miss Magnolia Sherman (Ham Beggs, and Miss "Treasurer Cheat" LaFleur (Bill Peeples) and the rafters resounding with a slightly spicy skit, during which the winsome Miss LaFleur had all she could do to keep her costume properly positioned. The skit ended with the three lovelies chugging beers to a standstill with veterans Bill Ellbeck, Dave Johnston and Jim Jennings. "Bear" Massey made a gallant but futile attempt to convince everyone in earshot that he was human, and Delt Treasurer Bob Linberry, who did nothing in particular, but who made the mistake of wishing that some day his name would appear in this column, now has his wish. Among the Pi Phi attending were Marty Mueller, pinned for the night to Sandy Morrison, Betsy Evans, Dawn Detweiler, Nina DiPierre, Margaret Cheney, and Betty Warner, who flustered all good Deltas with her constant referrals to the "D.D.T.s." Saturday, the Deltas held their initiation and pledging, followed by a dinner at the Little Tea House. Following the dinner was a BYOB party which may still be going on.

ADVENTURES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE: NO. 2

Today, with earnestness and sobriety, we make the second of our forays into social science. We take up the most basic of all social sciences—sociology itself.

Sociology teaches us that man is a social animal. It is not instinct or heredity that determines his conduct; it is environment. This fact is vividly borne out when you consider the case of Julio Sigafos.

Julio, abandoned as an infant in a dark wood near Cleveland, was adopted by a pack of wild dogs and reared as one of their own. When Julio was found by a hunter at the age of twelve, the poor child was more canine than human. He ran on all fours, barked and growled, ate raw meat, lapped water with his tongue, and could neither speak nor understand one single word. In short, he was a complete product of his environment.

Julio, incidentally, was more fortunate than most wild children. They never become truly humanized, but Julio was exceptional. Bit by bit, he began to talk and walk and eat and drink as people do. His long-dormant mental processes, when awakened at last, turned out to be fantastically acute. He was so bright that he learned to read and write in a month, got through grammar school in three years, and high school in two. And last June as thousands of spectators, knowing the odds Julio had overcome, stood and raised cheer after cheer, he was graduated valedictorian from Cal Tech with a degree in astrophysics!

Who can say to what towering heights this incredible boy would have risen had he not been killed the day after commencement while chasing a car?

But I digress. To return to sociology, people tend to gather in groups—a tendency that began, as we all know, with the introduction of Marlboro Cigarettes. What an aid to sociability they are! How benignly one looks upon one's fellows after puffing on Marlboro's filter that really filters, on Marlboro's flavor that's really flavorful. How eager it makes one to extend the hand of friendship! How grateful we all are to Marlboro for making possible this togetherness! How good, not to live in the bleak pre-Marlboro world with every man a stranger!

The groups that people live in today (thanks to Marlboro) vary widely in their customs. What is perfectly acceptable in one society may be quite outlandish in another. Take, for instance, the case of Ug Van Wyck.

Ug, a Polynesian lad, grew up in an idyllic South Sea isle where the leading event of the year was the feast of Max, the sun god. A quaint all-day ceremony was held, with tribal dancing, war chants, fat-lady races, pie-eating contests, and, for the grand finale, the sacrifice of two dozen maidens.

According to Ug's folkways, sacrificing maidens was entirely acceptable, but when, in his eighteenth year, he was sent as an exchange student to the University of Wisconsin, he soon learned that Americans take a dim view of this practice—in Wisconsin, at any rate. The first fifteen or twenty maidens Ug sacrificed, he was let off with a warning. When, however, he persisted, drastic measures were taken: he was depelled by his fraternity. A broken man, Ug quit school and moved to Milwaukee where today he earns a meager living as a stein.

Panhellenic Presents Annual Sing, Prom

• THE ANNUAL PANHELLENIC Council Sing will be held in Lisner auditorium at 8 p.m. March 6th.

As in the past, the best singers from each of the twelve University sororities will be in competition for the first, second and third place trophies awarded to the outstanding performers. An additional trophy will be presented to the outstanding sorority sing director by Dr. Harmon of the University music department.

All groups will be required to do an arrangement of one of their sorority songs and an additional number of their own choice. Filling in time slots between sororities will be Master-of-Ceremonies Fred Fiske of WWDC. The University pep band, under the direction of Dick Wills, will also fill in.

Other Features

Climaxing the evening, along with the announcement of the sing winners, will be the unveiling of Colonial Booster mascots George and Martha and the introduction of the Cherry Tree Queen.

Panhellenic Council scholarship awards will also be presented.

"The program this year has been exceptionally well organized, and all who attend are in for a very pleasant evening of excellent entertainment," a Panhellenic spokesman said.

Panhel Prom

The annual Panhellenic Council prom will be held at the Shoreham hotel between 10 p.m. and 1 a.m. Saturday, March 7. Dancing will be in the main ballroom, with music provided by Jack Morton.

The girl-ask-boy dance will be a closed affair, with sorority members and their dates attending. A "Musical Tunes" motif will set the mood, with cut-outs of musical notes adorning the columns and programs displaying sharps, flats and other musical symbols.

Entertainment will be provided by the winners of the Panhellenic council sing.

Group Meets On Education

• "SCHOLARSHIP IN THE Soviet Satellite Bloc" will be the topic of Colonel Quintin S. Lander at the Alpha Theta Nu meeting tonight, 8:15 p.m. in Woodhull C.

Col. Lander is chief of the Attache Branch, office of the assistant chief of staff intelligence, department of the Army. During the last three years of World War II, he was assistant chief of staff for General MacArthur.

One of the questions Col. Lander plans to cover is, "Is Soviet education really more advanced than ours?" He became interested in this topic when, as a military attache, he was in Romania for three years. During this tour of service, Col. Lander visited for ten days in Moscow. He has, during his 20 years in the United States Army, conducted a great deal of research on this subject.

Col. Lander is the fourth in a series of guest speakers sponsored by Alpha Theta Nu. Past speakers have included Roger Stuart, Washington correspondent for the New York World Telegram and Sun; Professor Robert E. Gajdusek of the University English Department, and Dr. Paul Henshaw of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Writers' Club Faces Financial Problems

• THE POTOMAC LITERARY MAGAZINE will bid for official Publication's Committee recognition tomorrow at 2:30 p.m.

According to Mrs. Tove Neville, editor-in-chief of the publication, the staff has been building support since early in the fall semester. The idea was born last year when the Writer's club decided to extend the scope of the small pamphlet they put out last year.

It received backing first from the Culture Committee of the Student Council and by Mortar Board, who adopted it as one of the yearly projects. In getting additional support, the magazine staff got promises for donations, for pre-paid group subscriptions, and for advertisements.

Their aim is to make themselves financially independent of the University Administration. Right now, Mrs. Neville says, the proposed semi-annual publication has enough money for one issue but not enough for two.

Advertisements

Promised support for advertisements have been given by Quigley's store on the corner of 21st and G streets, the Reprint Book Store, the Franz Bater Book Store, several restaurants and other businesses. So far, $75 has been promised from ads and over $100 in donations.

Groups on campus which have supported the magazine with donations have been Strong Hall, the Art club, the Wandering Greeks, the International Students Society, Madison and Adams Halls, the Philosophy club, the Student Council, and the Sigma Chi fraternity.

Group subscriptions have been offered and have been accepted by the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, Tau Epsilon fraternity, Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, and the Writer's club.

The group subscriptions were offered on a pre-paid basis and had to be for at least 20 copies. Each issue of the magazine will cost 25 cents per copy. The printing would be done by the Printing House, the Letterhead Shop, on 5th St. n.w.

Publication Costs

According to Mrs. Neville, the cost of the publication per issue will be between $185 and $205 depending on whether a 36 or 40-page issue is printed. She also mentions that are work costs $5 extra per page.

Each issue, she said, will run between 36 to 40 pages. If they get recognition by the Publications committee, she related, they hope to have their first issue out sometime in April. The magazine will have art work, she said, and indicated that poetry, prose and essays will be featured in the magazine.

The sponsor for the magazine is Dr. Highfill of the English department. Other such magazines have been started at the University in the past but they have all folded. Mrs. Neville felt that the biggest reason for their failures was the same one they will have to overcome. "They don't build a staff to perpetuate themselves. We must do that," she said.

The first issue would be run off for about 500-700 copies. Mrs. Neville felt that there might be an eventual possibility of putting the magazine on the Campus Combo, if it successful.

the jurisdiction and authority to regulate, supervise, and coordinate within the limitations of the Board of Trustees, all student activities except intercollegiate athletics and intramural athletics where credit is given."

Mr. Heckman, in a statement to the HATCHET, said, "If the Student Council is limited to activities, it gets ridiculous. The Council's Book Store survey and the recent action concerning University signs, are certainly not student activities."

Mr. Heckman said that he did not feel that the Council could express student opinion on this particular issue. Student opinion is too diversified, he said.

"However," he added, "The Council shouldn't limit themselves only to activities. Student opinion is a very important opinion and it is the duty of the Council to express it."

valiant attempt to overcome the powerful Mountaineer contingent, the Bulldogs succumbed to the expected defeat by a score of 85-66.

Les Patrone and All-American Jerry West sparked the Mountaineers. Patrone, a first-line reserve man, racked up 20 points while West scored 27.

Trail By One Point

The Bulldogs were able to come within one point of the lead with 13:07 remaining. Trailing 39-33 at the half, the military men, led by Dick Jones and Ray Graves, began chopping away at the margin. But the Mountaineers quickly recovered and ran the score up to 60-49. The Bulldogs were no longer a threat.

The victory was the fiftieth straight conference win for West Virginia and meant their fifth consecutive conference title. The victory also gave the Mountaineers a bid to the NCAA regional playoffs in New York as representatives of the conference.

The tournament was not a total loss for the Colonials, who used a first-round opportunity to get revenge on VPI. The Buff hoopers were at their very best as they trounced the Gobblers 85-67. Each of the top five Colonials reached the double figure mark.

Buff Defeat VPI

The Buff combined a sharp-shooting offense with an inspired defense. Employing a zone set-up, the Colonials held Bob Ayersman, the Gobblers' sensational sophomore star, to only five points. Ayersman, who totaled 71 points against G. W. in two earlier meetings this season, found the Colonial defense almost impregnable.

Guarilia High

Gene Guarilia led the Buff scoring with 25 points and was the team's top rebounder. Telasky and McDonald aided the cause with 16 and 15 points respectively, while Bash and Knisley each accounted for 14. The Colonials completed an amazing 52 per cent of their shots.

McDonald Named To All-Star Team

• GEORGE WASHINGTON'S star guard, Bucky McDonald, was named to the All Southern Conference basketball team as announced by the Southern Conference Sportswriters Association.

McDonald joins VPI's Bob Ayersman and Chris Smith, West Virginia's Jerry West, and William and Mary's Roy Lange on the Southern Conference honor squad.

Bill Telasky, the other half of GW's "backcourt brats" was named to the writers' second team. Also on that team are Bob Smith of West Virginia, Jeff Cohen of William and Mary, Theryl Willis of Richmond, and Dick Wright of Furman.

Buff center, Gene Guarilia, was named to the Third team along with Bucky Bolyard of West Virginia, Dag Wilson of Furman, and Dick Wherry and Art Musselman of The Citadel.

better squad this spring because it has some good new blood.

At the beginning of the following week the Colonials will be host to Dartmouth, Lehigh, and Georgetown in the annual Cherry Blossom Festival Tournament. Lehigh was in the Eastern Inter-collegiate Finals last year, and Dartmouth is a perennial Ivy League tennis power. Last season a near perfect record for the netmen was marred by only two losses, one to Michigan and the other to Notre Dame in the same tourney.

Jim Whitehead and Dick Fishman are the other two netmen back from last year. Ken Garrison, who played the '55 season as a Colonial, and who has since been in the military service, and newcomer, sophomore Ken Silverstone, both seem certain to do well this spring.

Citadel Downs Buff; W.Va. Takes Crown

by Stan Heckman

• THE CITADEL NOSED out the Colonial five 53-52 in a semi-final game of the Southern Conference Tournament on Friday.

The contest was a see-saw battle all the way, and only the final buzzer could tell the tale. With 2:40 remaining, the Bulldogs found themselves in the lead for the first time in the second half. A jump shot by Ray Graves and two fouls by Art Musselman gave the Bulldogs a 51-48 advantage. With 1:28 left Musselman, who ended up high scorer with 20 points, added two more fouls to complete the Citadel's scoring.

The Colonials made a last-minute attempt to overcome the 53-48 deficit. Howie Bash and Gene Guarilia dropped in layups to put the Buff within one point of the Bulldogs. But the clock ticked away and no one was able to record the needed tally.

The game was constantly in doubt, and both teams played cautious ball all the way. At the end of the half the score stood 26-26. Early in the second period, the Buff took a seven-point lead, the widest margin of the contest, but the Bulldogs whittled it down point by point until they finally took the lead.

The victory put the Citadel into the finals against West Virginia on Saturday night. Despite a

• "THE COLONIAL TENNIS team will probably win the Southern Conference championship for the fourth consecutive year," Coach Bill Shreve states emphatically.

The tough schedule of 15 matches includes top Atlantic Coast Conference teams as well as clubs from the Southern Conference. The first two matches will be in mid-March. Two rigorous contests with The Citadel on Monday, March 16, and with Davidson on the following day are in store for the Buff netmen when they travel to Charleston, South Carolina. Coach Shreve believes that these are the two roughest conference rivals. Davidson, which furnished keen competition for the Buff last season, will be an even

Delta Theta Phi Tops Pi Kappa Alpha—Sigma Alpha Epsilon Takes League

• DELTA THETA PHI won a chance to face Sigma Chi in the A3 league playoffs as they defeated Pi Kappa Alpha 47-34 last Sunday at the Gym.

Led by Bill King, who netted 18 points, DTPhi was able to beat a good Pike team, which one week previously had upset the strong SX squad.

In the first half it seemed that PiKA might take the game and the playoff spot, but the lawyers held on and were able to pull ahead in the second half when Pike John Keen fouled out. Pike probably would have won in the first five minutes, but King kept DTPhi in the game and infused spirit into his men.

Even with King's great play Pike was able to pull ahead in the first half. Keen scored six points in the first half, and cleared backboards for PiKA. However, in his zeal to get the ball Keen committed three costly fouls, fouls that were to prove fatal in the second half.

The half ended with PiKA ahead

19-15 due mostly to hustle. The scoring was spread evenly among Keen, Al Galiani, and Lou Hoelman who each scored four points.

DTPhi came roaring back in the second half, and soon grabbed the lead. Mike Spence made the score 19-19 on a tap in, and Gordon Stafford put the Lawyers ahead 21-19. Keen soon tied the score with his favorite shot, an outside jump.

The score seesawed until Keen fouled twice in a row with DTPhi ahead 25-23. King not only scored a charity to make the score 26-23, but Keen, Pikes rebounder, was out of the game. DTPhi scored the next six points, and for all practical purposes the game was over.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon won a place in the playoffs for the all University title by crushing a helpless Alpha Epsilon Pi team 60-25 for the A2 league championship.

Paul Jenkins led SAE to its victory, and all but won it himself as he scored a total of 21 points on ten field goals and one foul. Jenkins was backed up by
